WALL STORIES

Inspired by the medieval city of Memmingen, Germany, and the surroundings.

So much history is hidden in the bricks,
stones, rusted metals, and old woods.
All those wonderful textures, captured and photographed during my walks, are the foundation for this collection.

SERIES TERRA

This body of works is an abstract exploration of the earth's elemental beauty, capturing its raw and diverse textures, colors, and forms. Each painting delves into the deep connections between the natural world and human emotion, evoking a sense of both awe and introspection.

The paintings utilize a palette dominated by earth tones—shades of browns, grays, and occasional bursts of white and black, suggesting natural phenomena such as soil, rock formations, and the transformative processes of the earth.

The brushwork is dynamic, with layered textures that resemble natural erosion, sediment layers, and geological upheavals. This tactile quality invites viewers to ponder the age and stories embedded in the terrestrial landscapes they depict, making each piece a meditation on the planet's past, present, and future.
